When Another Woman Crosses My Mind
by Peggy Mercer/JK Coltrain (c) BMI July 2010

Chorus:

When another woman crosses my mind
I close my eyes and think of you.
I go back to yesterday, the price I'd have to pay
When another woman crosses my mind.

Verse 1

There was a time down in New Orleans in a bar on Bourbon Street.
Another lady caught my eye
and tried to sweet talk me.
I thought about how you stood by me
my whole life through I'm proud to say I turned and walked away
and came back home to you.

Chorus:

When another woman crosses my mind
I close my eyes and think of you.
I go back to yesterday, the price I'd have to pay
When another woman crosses my mind.

Bridge:

A love as sweet as our love
only happens once in a life time
so don't worry about us baby
'cause I know we'll be just fine

Chorus

I just go back to yesterday
The price I'd have to pay
When another woman crosses my mind.
