Now that your friends are leavin' and as to look into my eyes.

You try in vain to stop from shaking.

I know that you're just staying.

To leave a broken heart behind, there is no need for you to linger.

I've heard them all right from the start

don't say these words to me I know them all by heart.

I don't need explanations

I read the answers in you eyes don't be afraid to see me crying.

I've lost my expectations

so you don't need to tell me lies to save my self-esteem from dying.

I've gone through this within my mind

I've seen this all before at a million times

I've learned to live without you.

I've learned to dream without you.

To take the pain within my heart.

I've learned to smile without you.

To take a chance without you.

I'm getting used to miss your love.

I've learned to walk alone.

Leave without hesitation.

There's nothing left for me to lose, and I wont cry to talk it over.

No need to fake compassion.

Don't try to walk within my shoes, I've used them on the way to nowhere.

I've heard them all right from the start.

Don't say these words to me, I know them all by heart.

I've learned to live without you.

I've learned to dream without you.

To take the pain within my heart.

I've learned to smile without you.

To take a chance without you

I'm getting used to miss your love.

I've learned to walk alone.

I've learned to live without you.
I've learned to dream without you.
To take the pain within my heart.
I've learned to smile without you.
To take a chance without you
I'm getting used to miss your love.
I've learned to walk alone.

I've learned to smile without you.
To take a chance without you
I'm getting used to miss your love.
I've learned to walk alone.
