I'm closing all the doors, I'm waiting for the world You'll forget to apologize, your disguise hasn't worked this time So take off you're scary mask, put on the face, that I knew I knew you before, before you became who you are And I want to know why everyone is changing 'Cause I'm still the same, the kid that you met years before As I'm getting older, the world seems so much further away Drinking another 40 again, euphoria here I come God, I know I'm still the same, or maybe she's right and I have changed So I'm just getting drunker and drunker 'cause that's what drinkers do And so I'm the Man of the Year, congratulate me 'cause I'm still here I'm still here.
