I try to write a song and, and it started with a verse to explain how i'm feeling, but couldn't find the words been trying so hard for so long, but i cant find a way, out this place, that i'm in you don't know how i'm feeling, cause baby if you did you wouldn't turn your back and say we should call it quits cause i'm still trying to hold on, but i cant find a way out of this place that we're in

that is time, to let go so why do i just keep holding on?
and if you still care,
you still would be there after the love is dead and gone so call the DJ baby, turn the radio on

after the love is dead and gone
hit the replay button on your favourite song
after the love is dead and gone

now we in the same predicament that we said we'd never be, back here again as we breaking our hearts but then there's fire to not get missed but baby this just isn't me and you seemed to have changed, now before

so why do i just keep holding on?
and if you still care,

so call the dj baby, on the radio on
hit the replay button on your favourite song

no matter where you go, you'll always be a part of me no matter the distance
a thousand miles or more, you'll always be a part of me
ooooo
and if the sun don't shine, made it through the rain you know your hearts still mine now the clouds are grey, and if you know me we'll slowly drift away

hit the replay button on your favourite song
