Spoken:

I watch the skies unfold
Listening to stories untold
Of an ancient heart which beats as one
Here beneath the summer sky

I hear the thunder above
The skies open wide and I listen
To the wild winds the keep whispering love
First raindrops fall
how they glisten

Instrumental.

Verse;

I stand neath the sky
And feel I'll never be the same
My pounding heart cries
For you, I call out your name

As the world slips away
On this hot summer day
Our love is born again
Within the wind and the rain

The colors of the summer sky
Paint our mood
Magenta melting into new shades of blue

As I draw you near,
I feel you dear close to me
The circle is complete it's sweet just to be

Verse;

I see the love in your eyes
My heart opens wide and I listen
To a voice that keeps whispering love
Our eyes gently shine, teardrops glisten

Verse

I stand neath the sky
And feel I'll never be the same
My heart pounds tonight
Calling me I cry out your name
As the world slips away
On this hot summer day
Sheltered in your loving arms
I hear the song of your heart
The colors of the summer sky
Paint our mood
Magenta melting into new
shades of blue
As I draw you near, I feel you dear close to me
The circle is complete it's sweet just to be
With you

The circle is complete It's sweet to be with you
In the colors of the summer sky I'll paint our moods Magenta melting into shades of you
