Take a look on us, we're eating superfluous toxins
Mutating cells and organs
Ground gaining tumour Near gold and leatherette, plastic made false teeth Neon lighted evenings
during this embittered

Human depravity...

Sometimes you get the feel of crushing them with all of their faith But likely now its needless, we've dugged our own grave

In this hyperactive world, we cannot breathe
As our knowledge increasing, we're breaking down under it

But as our inborn humanity sets pace for us we're walking our self-centered path, and can't see what we're destroying System of million times
Can be known the reaction?
The seed of life is lost.
Voice of eccentricity, please tell me now the way out
It can't be tolerable more,
Earth will regret this cruelly Voice of none fate shattered under dissidence

Terrorists against people having not any chance
This is the perfect simile of daily life...

Some kind of glittering to deface what we've got Work of thousand years starts to become supernatural Kreatin built unreal muscles, they having not any pride God won't bear down unexpected He'll emeciate us from inside

Human Depravity...
