Brothers, sisters, come with me
Into the light, into the light
Brothers, sisters, can't you see
Into the light, into the light?

How did you lose sight of what you saw?
You know you can be better than you were before

Brothers, sisters, can't you see
That you are stronger than you think?
You are stronger than you think
You are stronger than you think, you are strong

Raise those arms that once were broken
And put down the grief

Did you think your time was gone
Into the light, into the light?
Did you think you're on your own
Into the light, into the light?

How did you lose sight of what you saw?
You know you can be better than you were before

Brothers, sisters, can't you see
That you are stronger than you feel?
You are stronger than you feel
You are stronger than you feel
You are stronger than you feel, you are strong

Raise those arms that once were broken
And put down the greed

I'm taking over, I'm taking over
I'm taking over, I'm taking over
I'm taking over, I'm taking over
I'm taking over, I'm taking over

I'm taking over, I'm taking over
I'm taking over, I'm taking over
I'm taking

You are stronger than you think
You are stronger than you think
You are stronger than you think, you are strong

Raise those arms that once were broken
And put down the greed
