My Heart Beats Faster I can feel it on the tip of my tongue
I Must have tasted and I've lost everything thing that I've won
Don't you forget about the ones you've left behind
Don't you forget I'm the one you'll never find

And when you find the time to realize its not enough
Give me something stronger
And if you think that you are right
See it through my eyes
I Need It Now, I Need You Now My Only Antidote

I'm breathing faster as I'm closer with every step
The clock is ticking and there's only precious seconds left
Why should I wait why should I even care
You brought this on yourself, try again don't even dare

And when you find the time to realize its not enough
Give me something stronger
And if you think that you are right
See it through my eyes
I Need It Now, I Need You Now My Only Antidote
