Why did I listen to those words and why do I feel that shame
Why was it sickening to see the truth within?
Why did it burn to play that game?
I gotta stop myself from holding on to nothing that is there
But if everything is dead and gone why is the shot of guilt still there

Coz she's like a raincloud always hanging over me She's the poison pill she's out to kill fill my lungs and leave me be
She's like a raincloud always hanging over me She's the poison pill she's out to kill fill my lungs and
leave me be

Why were there so many voices inside my head telling me I'm sane?
Why were there so many choices?
If they all made me complain and complain again I gotta stop myself from holding back if it's all I've got, all I have
Where you can sell my name display my shame Coz I fell and now I'm out of the game

Coz she's like a raincloud always hanging over me
She's the poison pill she's out to kill fill my lungs and
leave me be
She's like a raincloud always hanging over me
She's the poison pill she's out to kill fill my lungs and leave me be
