When all things are said and done in life it's hard to tell
With all the ups and downs like falling from heaven to hell

You've always got a good side and you've got a bad
It's hard to tell if you're happy or sad

Life and split personality's two different sides of the story

One minute you're up with lots of hope and glory
The next you're crashing down right down to the floor
It's hard to tell if you're stable anymore

All things life has given me but I don't know witch way to turn

One sides telling me to go but I feel I'm starting to burn
All my problems desires and answer's lay down right before me

Life and split personality's cant you see!

LIFE AND SPLIT PERSONALITY'S

Two different sides of the story

One minute you're up with lots of hope and glory
The next you're crashing down right down to the floor
It's hard to tell if you're stable anymore

KEEBLE SOLO!!

Life And Split Personality's two different sides of the

One minute you're up with lots of hope and glory
The next you're crashing down right down to the floor
It's hard to tell if you're stable anymore
