

Nancy Lamott

"Child In Me Again"

Visit "Child In Me Again" on MotoLyrics.com

CHILD IN ME AGAIN

I'd like to lose all time again
And look for trees to climb again
Recite a little rhyme again
And dream a reckless dream
For someone I'd exiled in me
Awoke today and smiled in me
I need to find the child in me again

Oh I know that we all grow older
Grow sadder, grow wiser, grow colder, grow up
So I look for myself leaving no stone unturned
All I need to recapture the truths I've unlearned
The honesty, the open face, the simple faith and easy grace
I didn't see the time erase the child I used to be

I'll have to wait a while and see
She may come back in style in me
I need to find the child in me again

Oh I know that we all grow older
Grow sadder, grow wiser, grow colder, grow up
So I look for myself leaving no stone unturned
All I need to recapture the truths I've unlearned

To find myself a child again
To meet the morning mild again
To run headlong and wild again
Into a dawning dream
It seems like such a precious thing
Peace beyond imaging
But Winter will give way to Spring again

It seems like such a precious thing
Peace beyond imagining
Yet she'll awake and smile in me
And she'll be reconciled in me
I need to find the child in me again
I need to find the child in me again

Visit Nancy Lamott page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.