I've discovered that changing you seems in vain Ignoring my words in all affairs, just replying me: "Who the hell cares ?"
We should call it a day cause there's nothing more to say

I am sure that you play a role all the time
You sometimes might be serious but can't show us anyway
You live your life in trance

The rest of the world seems to ridicule you
They try to tease you and that's why you feel blue
We can't help you cause our hands are tied
We even agree that it serves you right

Now it's wise that you take your bullet-proof
The wind blows straight into your face, this time you'll lose your race

Cause you got no chance

The rest of the world seems to ridicule you
They try to tease you and that's why you feel blue
We can't help you cause our hands are tied
We even agree that it serves you right

So don't act too refractory and don't make us complain
Don't doubt our sincerity, this time you won't obtain
The show continues but without you, if you know
Your fate is sealed, you just have to go

The rest of the world seems to ridicule you
They try to tease you and that's why you feel blue
We can't help you cause our hands are tied
We even agree that it serves you right
