So long we shared friendship
I thought but misguided
Finally you came then
What I knew you were, all along

Spineless, you pretend to be
What you're not to me
And all around me

Two faced and so self-centered
Two faced and so self-centered

So long we shared friendship
I thought but misguided
Finally you came then
What I knew you were, all along

Spineless, you pretend to be
What you're not to me
And all around me

Two faced and so self-centered
Two faced and so self-centered

So self-centered

It works both ways, but you can't feel
Your obsessions blinding you
You abuse, and for what do we get in return?

My last chance to repent
It's your last chance
We'll fast on you deception

After all, you've proved yourself
So many things maliciously absurd
I cannot trust you and I never will

Still a disillusioned friend
