

Napalm Death "Riot Of Violence"

Greedy for blood paralyzed by power decision to die tales of terror deep in the corner passion to kill corpse on the ground mind starts to chill a man lies in the corner covered with blood bloody wounds on his body praying for his god people pass him by but they say why should we care about him he will die today riot of violence

find your own way you must go alone kill all next to you they want the throne the infectious disease the only life you're scared to death die by the knife brutality and mighty wars warriors start to fight with bombs and guns the troops have come to extinguish the light i'd rather not go wild tonight but i must save myself on a field littered with corpses was a lonely flower it reminds the world how it was but we kicked it away with power
