This conversation just lasted all night long
You're sitting real close as if its where you belong
While the world was sleeping you where
Standing there weeping 'bout
That I wont say, what you dont want me to know

I'm afraid to ask you where you're going
Dont want you to leave but I know you will.....
Leave me standing on my own again,
Dont think that I got the strength or will
To tell you I dont need you anyway.... anyway

So much more beneath that I'll never know
And I'm so tired trying to get you to open up
You told me how you felt I laughed
You took it back but I knew right then that
The changing tides had told you you was wrong

I'm afraid to ask you where you're going
Dont want you to leave but I know you will.....
Leave me standing on my own again,
Dont think that I got the strength or will
To tell you I dont need you anyway.... anyway

So much water has passed beneath the bridge
And I'm so far back from being on the edge
Yet it seemed you never went that way
Now you're here you had your say
I didn't want you to go but thats what you did

I'm afraid to ask you where you're going
Dont want you to leave but I know you will.....
Leave me standing on my own again,
Dont think that I got the strength or will
To tell you I dont need you anyway....
