Got no reason to be, it's true that I believe Keep giving answers to me, it's the questions that deceive
I couldn't believe on Sunday
My thoughts they drift away
And I'm thinking that I'm alright
This feelings gonna stay

But I'll sit alone for a little while, so in my head there's only me
Only me.....
Only me, only me, only me, only me
There's only me, only me, only me, only me

So I woke up this morning, at about a quarter till nine
I was still tired and angry from the drilling outside
But through the morning haze
A ray of light shone through It give me that strength and hope man, I'd love to do what I wanna do

But I'll sit alone for a little while, so in my head there's
only me
Only me.....
Only me, only me, only me, only me
There's only me, only me, only me, only me

So I got by today, because the paper said I would I learned to smile because my intentions they where good
Moving forward every day
Out toward the starting line
Well I might just find a way
To make this little world mine

But I'll sit alone for a little while, so in my head there's
only me
Only me.....
Only me, only me, only me, only me
There's only me, only me, only me, only me

Im a rolling stone,I'm a heart on fire

I could put on my coat I could venture outside
