I always been the type to put you first Even when it seen like you aint deserve it And i know that sometimes i made you hurt But i swear that i aint do it on purpose the problem, was that you, would hear me, but respond based only on what you were feeling which led to frustration that sparked the beginning of...the ending (just hear me)
I never been the type to give all my love, all my love Last time i found love, i lost my trust in the heart of a battle i always won but, but you know my dumbass gave all my love, all my love knowing the outcome would prolly just be the same old shit that it always was and i fell so hard that i left my guard back where i first met her Anything that was keeping me safe got lost when i read that letter
Its like i dove from a rock to a deep ass lake and my feet would touch the sand at the bottom ice cold but im warm cuz im next to the core that deep in love man i never knew that lookin at the stars could be so fuckin downin why's it so damn hard to move on from your past shit and everything be all good Some break-ups be easy man i think they all should i said man i think they all should im like man i think they all should

some break-ups be easy
damn it i just lost love i will see you someday i hope maybe one day we can go back to the way the way that it used to be
