

Levi Smith

"The Honeymoon Is Over"

Visit "The Honeymoon Is Over" on MotoLyrics.com

And you say, "Change your ways"
And I just might
If you can get the pyrotechnics right
But I expect no more than a sentimental feeling and/or
A new T-shirt for my closet
Otherwise, give my deposit back

Since when did you look less than stunning?
Since when did this seem less than moving?
Since when am I too calm and collected
Too uptight to be effected?
And padded pews confuse and lose appeal
The more I feel accused by you
Have you lost your touch?
Have I not kept in touch?
Or are you just a crutch for the insecure among us?

Since when did you look less than stunning?
Since when did this seem less than moving?
Has something changed between us?
Has something changed between us?
Has something changed or is it me?

You used to be so intoxicating
Since when have I been sober
And I imagine this is just like waking up
To find that the honeymoon is over

Has something changed between us?
Has something changed between us?
Has something changed, or is it me?
I guess we'll see
I'm sorry
I'm sorry

Your absence makes my heart grow colder
I'm sorry that the honeymoon is over
And I remember when we were in love

Visit Levi Smith page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

