ok
just listen
yeah
i gave you everything i never asked you for nothing you ripped my heart right out my chest chewed it up then kept running but i ain't trippin' over you no more i'm done with this pain said i'd be sick of all the drama, acquisitions and games
you wanna play then find another who'd be down with your fussin'
late night always arguing, screaming and cursing but what you know about it girl you ain't never shed a tear i never felt this way before and i ain't thinking really clear now you telling me to deal with it i just can't cope with it walk right out the door and just pretend that i'm ok with it i can't help but think that everything was a lie cause you promised me forever and now you're telling me goodbye girl i thought you were for real but that love was just imaginary kept on fighting for you like the heartbreak military now i'm feeling heartless colder than an icebox you can feel my tears girl every time the rain drops so tell me baby did i ever do you wrong cause your friends tell me you was cheating all along it's crazy i let you fool me from the start but i'm good cause we're through
and i don't want you back there's no more running back to you the way you played me, classical it's heartbreaking but practical i wasn't being irrational by thinking we was magical you took my love for granted put me down till i couldn't fight walking through your range of fire, shot me at the speed of light the day we met was so amazing fell for you, no hesitation spinning girl, you had me dazing got that butterfly sensation caught up in the moment i was blinded by the passion cos once you knew you had me you ain't never stop the taking took advantage of the fact i gave my love, my heart and soul to you i trusted you instead you wanna pull me through all this pain of losing you forget it boo cause after this i'm over you this track is my divorce papers listen while i'm serving you the rain is getting heavier the cold wind whistling crying out to god now he ain't even listening told you if i leave things would never be the same again

grab my coat i'm out the door i'm never looking back
again
but i'm good cos we're through
now my world is cold since the day that you left cause you took away my soul, you condemned me to death
you the devil homegirl, wicked witch of the west and if the broom stick fits you ride it out like the rest i was humming in love and now i'm full of resentment got to give it to you cause you're so good at pretending i should give you an oscar for the way that you acted see i thought you had a heart but it's coated in plastic lying and cheating shawty that was a low and now i'm done with the games and now i'm riding solo this roller coaster over baby get back to your occupation stripping, dancing, money chasing no more time for conversations baby if i could i would erase you from my memory i wish i never met you but disasters always come to me i thought i was complete and now i'm broken in two
so i'm closing the door

don't get it twisted thinking this for you i did this for me
told you no more looking back
