Just as the moon must have the sun
And cannot shine without him
So I, to live, must have a love
So strong I cannot doubt him

If he is whole in heart and soul
I follow him wherever
If he is pure, then I'm secure
And we'll be one together

I do not want a saint
I want a man
With thoughts of love and will
As woman can
And such a wonder love until I die
We really need the sun
The moon and I
We really need the sun
The moon
The moon and I

Aaaahhhhhh ooo-oooh oo-oo-oooh

Just as the sun must shine by day
In splendid isolation
So is the moon alone at night
An only invitation

I wonder why the poets try
To like and love in heaven
When love on earth has so much worth
For those to who is given

For you I am a part
Of love's desire
And I can feel your heart
Beat next to mine
We harmonize with land and sea and sky
We sing beneath the stars
My love and I
My stars has made us far
The moon and I

Ohhh oh oh
