I lied about the world that keeps on burning
I lied about the people that are turning
I lied about the horse that rode you
Lied about the beast that kills you
Tried to hide the ties that bind you to me
Yen intha Kaliyuga

Now I tell the story
Before I welcome Purgatory

Another face that carried lines of all your worries

Another trace of all your misery in stories
A face that folds when the cards have spoken
A trace of nothing when life is broken
Pointing finger burning right through me
Yen intha Kaliyuga

Now I, tell the story
Before I, enter Purgatory

Now I, tell the story
Before I, say I'm sorry
