I've been here broken down since you left
And there's no message in these bottles of brandy
All my friends tryna cure my condition
But I don't think anybody can help me
And it's real
How I feel
And now i'm trying to retrace my steps
My heart has turned into steel
It's surreal
Oh why did I put you second best
What a love to waste
Now i'll never see your face
If I could only have that time again
I would go back and I'd change

Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong

I'm sitting at home still in pieces
And I just can't put myself back together no
And if it wasn't for me you wouldn't be leaving
And the sun outside is changing my weather
And it's real
How I feel
And now i'm trying to retrace my steps
My heart has turned into steel
It's surreal
Oh why did I put you second best
What a love to waste
Now i'll never see your face
If I could only have that time again
I would go back and I'd change

Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong

I'm sitting here in my tears thinking how did I mess it up
If I took care of your heart then you would never leave
Since then nothing's ever been the same
Now all that's left is to say
What a love to waste
Now i'll never see your face
If I could only have that time again
I would go back and i'd change

Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong
Where I went wrong

I'm sitting at home still in pieces
And I just can't put myself back together
Yeah
