I think I've seen an angel who leaves me all alone which road should I go now or should I do this on my own

And there's never a way to escape this place that I make

So were trying even though were finding even though were finding we've been down this road to many times before now I'm losing but I'm moving on cause I've tried a million times to let you go

I'll let you go, I'll let you go

Look back at my reflection and all the places that I've been which road should I go down or should I do this all alone

And there's never a way to escape this place that I've made

Worth it, it just wasn't worth it the door shut the curtains finally closed how can it be worth it, this just wasn't worth it so now I'm finding out the way to let you go

(Moving on, we're moving on, now I'm moving on, we're moving on)
