13 years old

Staring at a map on the wall

In a social studies class I almost didn't pass

My brain was working overtime

Concocting conclusions in my mind

As I sat back and bided my time

Planning to exit this small town that we grew up in

It wouldn't hold us back again

'Cause the county line couldn't confine dreams we'd never compromise

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

23 years old

Staring at a clock on the wall

In an office cube I don't wanna sound rude but

Most people drowned all their dreams in paper trails and coffee

But I understand you know we've all got to eat

So we take the time to cram in a PHD in back up plans

While our first choice never gets a chance

You can't sink or swim unless you jump in,

Don't concern what could've been

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

And we go

You're never stuck if you always strain

So I'll settle down

But for now I've got an atlas and I've got a greyhound yeah

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go around the world

1,2,3,4

Here we go yeah

It's a new world

Around the world

Around the world we go we go yeah

We go yeah

We go round the world

Around the world we go

Around the world

Around the world we go

Yeah

13 years old staring at a map on the wall

13 years old staring at a map on the wall

13 years old staring at a map on the wall

13 years old I was

I was 13 years old.
