LIAR

You came to me

You said you were my friend

I shared my art and my mind.

You found it easier

To steal than create.

Then call it your's, though it's mine

You can't fight, what is right

Face the truth, liar

You can't feel, you just steal

Face the truth, liar

You smile in my face,

When I turn around,

You stick a knife in my back.

You think you're clever,

You know you're insane,

You're lies are not white they are black.

You can't fight, what is right

Face the truth, liar
