Ask any man and he can tell you
He'd go to hell just to save you
He'd bear your cross to reclaim you
Change the shape of your fate
And would a thousand years wait
To embrace you
He'd know all your thoughts are brilliant
And all your hopes his ambitions

Because your smile is fame
Like sunflower
You can do anything
You make everything new
Your beauty is fame
Like sunflower
You can do anything
You make everything new

Ask this wise soul and he'd tell you
That he fasted his whole life to envision you
Abandoned all riches and glory
Just to breathe the light that shines from you
