

Marcus Jung "Transfixed"

Visit "Transfixed" on MotoLyrics.com

Born into this game
To live a life unwittingly earned
To know the horror of death
And the more you learn
The wiser you become to the horror of life
Yeah, there's so much there to repress

Which way do I need to go
To avoid the nameless grave
Nobody knows the way things will go
And where is this grace that accompanies faith
That helps one pretend that life has no end

Who's to say you're right; who's to say you're wrong
Who's to say you just don't belong
Does anyone see the apparition that is me
My Soul wants to yell and My Heart says "Rebel!"
My eyes transfixed on the edge of oblivion

Which way do I need to go
To avoid the nameless grave
Nobody knows the way things will go
And where is this grace that accompanies faith
That helps one pretend that life has no end

Does anyone see the apparition that is me
My Soul wants to scream and My Heart says "Still dream!"

Visit Marcus Jung page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.