She said slow down
And lose yourself where ya standing
Don't turn away
Cuz you just might
Miss the colors changing

It looked so perfect on paper
To keep running; to keep running
With my eyes wide shut
It all splited away

So how do I find the days
That I lost
Waiting for things to change
For so long

Always thought I would be good enough
I Always thought I was gonna fall in love
Tomorrow seemed so far
When I was out there chasing cars
Waiting for something more to matter
Waiting for life when life just happens

I bent the light
I sacrafice for more of nothing
But everytime I get it right
I am still missing something

It looked so perfect on paper
To keep running; to keep running
With my eyes wide shut
It all splited away

So how do I find the days
That I lost
Waiting for things to change
For so long

Always thought I would be good enough
I always thought I was gonna fall in love
Tomorrow seemed so far

When I was out there chasing cars
Waiting for something more to matter
Waiting for life when life just happens

Woah, this is where it dies
Waiting for my life
Waiting for my life

I always thought I would be good enough
I always thought I was gonna fall in love

So how do I find the days
That I lost
Waiting for things to change
For so long

Always thought I would be good enough
I always thought I was gonna fall in love
Tomorrow seemed so far
When I was out there chasing cars
Waiting for something more to matter
Waiting for life with life just happens
It just happens

It just happens
