"Chute In My Mind"

When I'm bored and my body's in motion
My head opens up
Thoughts slide down the chute in my mind
My brain erupts

Bouncing round like a pinball
The lights flash in my head
When I'm working I'm bored as hell
Until I reach a Zen

There's a chute in my mind
I'm waiting for the bell, I keep checking the time
There's a chute in my mind
I'm waiting for the planets to be aligned
Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh

When I must do the dishes
My head opens up
Water splashes down my face
Like coffee in a cup

I work in a room with many clocks
Each ticking away
They chime 9, my ears explode
The beginning of the day

My brain's a room with glowing walls
And glowing memories
I flick a switch, the room shines
For all the world to see

Every thought I've ever had
Is etched into the wall
I raise a glass to the world
Man, I'm standin' tall
