

Mary Haskell

"The Secret Of Christmas"

Visit "The Secret Of Christmas" on MotoLyrics.com

If they said they knew the truth
They lied

No one said my faith wouldn't be questioned
Been driven to the brink
Because the truth is too hard to accept
When you face your mortal enemy

Who ever said I needed you, lied
Who ever said you knew the truth, lied
Who ever thought they knew my faith, lied
And if they think they know now, they fucking lied
They lied

Where are all your answers now
That you've been called out?
I kneel down and mourn for what we had
I can't be there for you now

Hear my voice of contention
It's sad you made me this way
Hear my voice of contention
It's so hard to see this end

Who ever said I needed you, lied
Who ever said you knew the truth, lied
Who ever thought they knew my faith, lied
And if they think they know now, they fucking lied

You think you know the truth
You lie

Where are all your answers now
That you've been called out?
I kneel down and mourn for what we had
I can't be there for you now

Visit Mary Haskell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.