When birth leads to death, we'll pour out in the atlantic to be released from this mess to be released from the panic and we'll float like the seagulls and we'll lie like the sand and reminisce a climbin' mountains in the valleys that we friend we just wanna believe, we wanna believe

and i believe in peace, and harmony i don't believe what we see on the T.V. screens and i believe in you, cause you always believe with me Believe with me.

and the people are inspired from what they have heard cause the knowledge turns to wisdom of all the things that we can't learn and the kids they run the streets like nothing else matters and i lay me down to sleep less religion more of a pattern i wanna believe, i wanna believe,

and i believe in peace, and harmony
i don't believe what we see in the magazines i believe in you, cause you always believe in me.
believe in me.
so believe with me.
believe with me.
believe with me.
