I've got some money and some clothes
laying on my bed,
but I'd rather have you laying there instead.

And I've got an old guitar,
some songs,
and singing bars,
but I'd rather have your attention.

and as for me, i can't be seeing what your seein me, i must be blind.

and she's falling asleep
on the pull-out couch next to me.
and I'll be counting sheep
til the sun comes out,
from under the trees.

i must have left,
open my head
when you stepped out of my dreams last night,
and into my life,
into my life.

(lyrics submitted by Savannah.)

I've got some problems
but, we've all got a few.
and i tried sleeping on either side but it doesn't stop me from dreaming of you.

and as for me, I'm in between with summer air and autumn leaves.
but she's falling asleep
on the pull-out couch next to me.
and i'll be counting sheep
til the sun comes out,
from under the trees.

i must have left,
open my head
when you stepped out of my dreams last night,
