

Matt Stansberry

"I'm So Blue"

Visit "I'm So Blue" on MotoLyrics.com

I feel like I am stuck. I'm living in a rut back home in this old routine.

I'm walking down my street. Like a broken record player on repeat, repeat, repeat

Same old song and dance and I can't even dance. Got two left feet. I'm an awkward geek

Well I try to mix it up. Look down instead of up. I took a different route today and I got lost along the way. (and it makes me feel like)

I'm so blue. How old must I be before I get a clue? Am I a man or still a boy? It's a debate these days. Just ask my girl I'm sure she'll say it's true, but she'll say "I love you". I guess I'm lucky that way. But, I still feel blue. How old must I be before I get a clue?

Afraid of the mundane. I think it's gonna rain on me on my way to work I'm splashing down my street. Listening to an old cassette on repeat, repeat, repeat, repeat Kids ask what's a cassette. I laugh and think what's next...our lives got too complex.

Well I try to mix it up. Rode a bike and not the bus. I took a different route today and I got lost along the way. (and it makes me feel like)

Visit Matt Stansberry page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.