Now that your life is so broken hearted
I'm at your mercy
I hope you find what you're searching for Now that you're free
And when the world fills you day with sorrow
Will you think of me
I hope that you never lose your way home
Like I'm losing me

I can hear your voice when you're whispering
Though you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away
Only in my dreams I can see your face
'Cause you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away

Love, I'm sorry 'bout the way we parted
Spare a way for me to get some time from your busy schedule
Don't reject me
And I was hoping that there might be something that you might feel
If I got on my knees and pleaded
'Cause I'm losing me

I can hear your voice when you're whispering

Though you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away
Only in my dreams I can see your face
'Cause you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away

If I could go back in time
And make all the wrongs right
Then maybe I could find a way
To brace the night

Miles, miles, miles, miles, you're so far away
I can't let you slip away
Miles, miles, miles, miles, you're so far away
You're so far away

(x2) I can hear your voice when you're whispering
Though you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away
Only in my dreams I can see your face
'Cause you're miles away
And I can feel your weight on the back of my spirit
Miles away
