

Aruna

"Break You Open"

Visit "Break You Open" on MotoLyrics.com

Can you hear me are you far away and distacted or afraid of what i might say cause i know your every move i can see things that you walk right through and i listen to the lessons lost on you in your race to escape the truth

But would I be the one to break you open make you come undone, and would I be the one to turn you over let you see what you've become, because theres something in you thats dying to come alive, but your happy hangin' on just getting by Has it faded

Are you bored with the lire you created Would you sacrifce yourself to protect everthing you own

Cause it seems to me that the more you have the more you want And the less you understand how to love and let things go

But would I be the one to breal you open make you come undone and would be the one to turn you over let you see what you've become, becace theres something in you thats dying to come alive, but your happy hangin' on just getting by

Cause its easy to ignore till the walls around you shatter and nothing seems to matter anymore Now yor stranded but you stand your ground emptyhanded

Cause it hurts to turn around But would I be the one to break you open amke you come undone, and would I be the one to turn you over
let you see what you've become, because theres something in you dying to come alive, but your happy hangin' on just getting by Visit Aruna page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.