I have a dream that consumes me
I bring along a simple question
Can your perceptions be my reality
Will mine become an intrusion

It's a different world out there
Will I ever belong
Cos I keep losing my way
I wanna turn and... run

Disillusioned, we started of wrong
I see the darkness when you're staring at the sun
I'm disillusioned and I watch how it turns
All this has happened before, we're just the reruns

Time keeps tapping on my shoulder
Taking me nowhere much too fast
And gently mocking my delusions
Till I wonder how long today will last

I'm beginning to doubt my vision
But I've broken free from the past
I'm floating on this karma keg
Dreading the final... blast

I have a dream that consumes me
I bring along a simple question
Can your perceptions be my reality
Will mine become an intrusion

It's a different world out there
Will I ever belong
Cos I keep losing my way
I wanna turn and... run

Disillusioned, we started of wrong
I see the darkness when you're staring at the sun
I'm disillusioned and I watch how it turns
All this has happened before, we're just the reruns
