"Wipeout"

This is where we go to - to the blue of the ocean
On the 30 westbound to the diamond water
Lost out in the white waves - salt purification Bright eyes and breathless - this is how Love feels Wash away the black stuff, wash away the road-dirt In the thrill of the wipe-out, feel it pulling you under This is where it saved your life in the days of the new beginning
All the sweet redemption lines that you wrote and told a thousand times
This is where we go to - to the blue of the ocean
On the 30 westbound to the diamond water
On the back-lanes down to the sea we pulled to the side of the road
Danced together in the headlights beam to the songs on the radio Cheek to cheek . . .

We're up on the cliff tops as the dusk falls and the wind drops down,
The last of the light fading in the sky out to the west;
And far out to sea, the water glows iridescent, perfect, like a promise
Of warm water in the shallows, cold water out in the deep,
Splashing on my face and rolling over, over, over . . .
