"She"

She is so pretty I see her everyday but it seems that something, something is missing there

She is always talking Talking on the phone I know that something is wrong.

She cries but no one is there for her
She's lonely nobody but herself
She cries but nobody hears a thing
I wonder if she would let me in.

Somedays she seems to be ok nothing happens everything is well but she goes back home and locks herself again
I know that something is wrong now

She cries but no one is there for her
She is lonely nobody but herself
She cries but nobody hears a thing
I wonder if She would let me in
