

Horrorshow "Found"

Visit "Found" on MotoLyrics.com so there i am sitting cramped up in my seat half asleep looking out the plane window just looking at the clouds and all of a sudden they pop and there she is so im coming down looking over this city all the familiar places i can see ive seen it a million times before but i dont know theres something about that moment it neverlooked so good touch down and i hit the ground running february 12th 2008 make my way off the plane wait around for my luggage hit the gates see my dad drop my bags and i hug him feel the suns warmth as we leave the airport catching up on all thats happened while i been away and he tells me with a great big smile on his face that finally the king is dead and everything must change and as we cruise through the alleys and the streets im struck by the beauty of familiarity big things small things all things in their place man i swear its like i left just yesterday but it seems like an age since my team parted ways and we each headed off into the wide blue yonder i cant wait to see em cause its true what they say bout how your heart grows fonder the next day and we head to the park for celebrations cause everybodys got their good vibrations giving out pounds and its hugs all round cause we all so excited to be reunited they say theres no place quite like it and if there is well im yet to find it so we party all night til the break of dawn light in the place that i call my own it feels good to be home

see i searched the corners of the earth and this is what i found no matter where i go i carry where im from so raise your hands up to the sky now for the ground beneath your feet this will always be the place where i belong see ive searched the corners of the earth and this is what ive found no matter where i go i carry where im from so raise your hands up to the sky now for the ground beneath your feet this is will always be the place where i belong

so now its one year later on the way to good vibes valentines day 2009 its kinda crazy how the calendars days can fly by and you watching the fireworks light up the night sky when i arrive this year i use a different gate cause the double SS is playing so we chilling back stage and i make it in just in time to see them rock the house-one dayers in the place and we turn the party out-and it make me so proud when i look in the crowd and see friends and family representing the home town people that i grew up with little brothers and sisters its like the whole neighbourhood was right there with us and it seems like every year the crew just gets bigger new names and faces watch as the plot thickens new chapters in the story in the streets that raised the streets that made me the way i am today see this year me and adit been all over the country and got love for every spot from byron bay to bunberry but there aint no where that id rather rest my feet than in the inner west side of the SYD so when im a grown man with a home loan plan and i wanna settled down and own my own land no doubt in my mind where ima put down my roots in the place that i call own thats the truth

see i searched the corners of the earth and this is
what i found no matter where i go i carry where im from
so raise your hands up to the sky now for the ground
beneath your feet this will always be the place where i
belong see ive searched the corners of the earth and this is what ive found no matter where i go i carry where im from so raise your hands up to the sky now for the ground beneath your feet this is will always be the place where i belong

Visit Horrorshow page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.