I will rise from the dust of my past
I will run to you whose arms are open
The tears well up within me, to you alone I cry

With this life I've been so foolish
I have tried and I've fallen so short.
Im so far off I cant even see the end.
The tears well up within me
to you alone I cry.

We're loosing this battle,
we've forgotten why we're here.
Growing tired of running the wrong way.
When its dark and im tired let not my voice fail me, for there it is felt the most.
To you alone I cry.

We will answer in time and all I ask of you,
save me from this and i will follow after you.
The time for wallowing in self deceit has past, its time to remember the heights we once knew.
When we both arive i pray you know what it means to be alive.
