

Kyle Dybdal

"There And Back Again (together We)"

Visit "There And Back Again \(together We\)" on MotoLyrics.com

1, 2

Together we should share an umbrella.
Together we should write a novella.
I know that I could be the right 'fella for you.
Together we should sit and watch the sunset.
Together we should curl up in a blanket.
You know that I could never forget you.

And now look at how far we've come,
but I've known ever since day one
that you were something special,
something new.

And looking back now at the start,
I don't know how you stole my heart.
But something that you said that day rang true.
Now here I am with you.

Together we should chat and be civil,
and carry on with all our useless drivell.
Solve the world's problems and more all before tea.
Together we should forget all our sorrow.
Together we should focus on tomorrow.
'Cause all I need is you to be happy.
(Together we...)

Now look at how far we've come,
but I've known ever since day one
that you were something special, something new.

And looking back now at the start,
I don't know how you stole my heart.
But something that you said that day rang true.
Now here I am with you...

Visit Kyle Dybdal page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.