"U WAKE ME UP"

written by Karin Lundin & Dezmond Ball

U wake me up from my bad dreams
Before they get too scary, before I start to scream
U know U make me feel safe in my bed
So I can finally, so I can finally dream of something good

Used to be afraid to sleep without the lights on When I was a child I made my mother crack the door And if ever I was left alone I'd just pretend someone was home
I'd imitate my father's voice and I'd turn up the stereo

U wake me up from my bad dreams
Before they get too scary, before I start to scream
U know U make me feel safe in my bed
So I can finally, so I can finally dream of something
good

I'm grown up now and not afraid to sleep without the lights
But there's no guarantee that I will not have restless nights
As long as you are touching me I'm not afraid to dream my dreams
I back up into your embrace and baby that's my favorite place

U wake me up from my bad dreams
Before they get too scary, before I start to scream
U know U make me feel safe in my bed
So I can finally, so I can finally dream of something
good

Something nice, something sweet, something warm Something better than I ever thought I could

U wake me up from my bad dreams
Before they get too scary, before I start to scream

U know U make me feel safe in my bed
So I can finally, so I can finally dream of something
good

Something nice, something sweet, something warm
Something better than I ever thought I could
