

The Arcade Fire

"Accidents"

Visit "Accidents" on MotoLyrics.com

An old man has a heart attack in the movie theatre
While my friend calls an ambulance
Buster Keaton's dancing
I wait for the punchline
But it never comes

Two blind kids in wheelchairs are crossing the street
And they get hit by the ambulance
Because the light was green
And I wait for the punchline
But it never comes

Promised you that I'd be true
And now chandeliers are crashing down to the ground
Waitresses drop their trays
Trains derail with passengers
While mother snakes eat their young
The water pipes in this town
Burst and flooded the living room
The fire trucks lose their way home
And crash into the hospitals

We're causing accidents
Me and you
We're causing accidents
Me and you

Where does a promise go
When you pretend it isn't there
Do you really think that it could just disappear?

Visit The Arcade Fire page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.