Lost in all her days
All the time she paid
To a life that wasn't hers
Once filled with innocence
Everything made sense
But she soon found she was caught
Stuck in between
Her heart and her dreams
So she let herself cross her line
She swore it be just this time

Ohâ€¦
How far would you go to reach a star
And how far would you go to win your war
And how far would you go to make your place
How far would you go knowing your heart's at stake
How far

On the other side was a boy who tried
To live the moment through
He wanted to grow up
Feeling empty love
But for him it wasn't enough
Trying to move as fast as he could
But he left the best thing behind
This heart that he lost in time

Wellâ€¦
How far would you go to reach a star
And how far would you go to win your war
And how far would you go to make your place
How far would you go knowing your heart's at stake
How far

So this wondrous place
Wasn't so wondrous at all
And she took the gains as she did the fall
And he tried to forget
But his heart just regret
The love he lost inside

Wellâ€¦
How far would you go to reach a star
How far would you go to win your war
And how far would you go to make your place
How far would you go knowing your heart's at stake
How far
