When you hear a baby cry
You wonder why
And when you hear a mother sigh
A mother cry, you'll never know
You'll never know

And when you hear the breeze outside
You wonder why
Why the Lord is so kind to you
Yet you prove, you prove untrue, you'll never know
You'll never know

Something is wrong somewhere
Something is wrong, I swear
Something is wrong somewhere
I've got to know, yeah
I've got to know, now

Why must man try to hate one another
And just fight him for power
When there's enough for every man
To live as one, you'll never know
You'll never know

Something is wrong somewhere
Something is wrong, I swear
Something is wrong somewhere
I've got to know, yeah
I've got to know, now...
