Oh, everything used to be colorful
I thought that what we had was gold
Things used to be wonderful
But now it's like the sun don't shine at all
Don't even crack a smile at all
Can someone explain this to me?

At first I saw indigo and then I saw baby blue
And then thought of me and you
Can you hear Billy Holiday singing a heart away
Tears rolling down my face
Tears rolling down my face

All I see is blue (blue)
Everything is turning into blue (blue)
I'm so sick of seeing blue (blue)
Every single different shade of blue, blue (blue)

No I ain't tripping, feel it pumping in my veins
My world is dripping of blue in every shade
We used to be in love, I used to be enough
Until I saw you for who you really was

At first I saw indigo and then I saw baby blue
And then thought of me and you
Can you hear Billy Holiday singing a heart away
Tears rolling down my face
Tears rolling down my face

All I see is blue (blue)
Everything is turning into blue (blue)
I'm so sick of seeing blue (blue)
Every single different shade of blue, blue (blue)

I see nothing but the sky
I don't wanna see the clouds no more
Over and over again
Bring back the sunny days
Bring back the color please
This can't be it for me

All I see is blue (blue)
Everything is turning into blue (blue)
I'm so sick of seeing blue (blue)
Every single different shade of blue, blue (blue)

All I see is blue (blue)
Everything is turning into blue (blue)
I'm so sick of seeing blue (blue)
Every single different shade of blue (blue)
All because of you

All because of you (you)
Everything is turning into blue (blue)
I'm so sick of seeing blue (blue)
Every single different shade of blue, blue (blue)
