What do you want from me?
What do you want that makes you crazy?
What do you want from me?
What do you want that makes you keep runnin right back to me.

Cos you thought that you could've lost you a star to be.
Didn't think this punk would get so far to see.
But I've been by before, don't lie to me.
Reapin what I've sown, don't come to me.

Cos I'm just the one that'll drive you insane.
Don't come to me.
Cos I'm just the one that'll drive you away.
Don't come to me.
You thought that you could've lost you a star but don't come to me.
Never thought we would get this far so don't come to
me.

Like a rasta who don't need dreadlocks to prove he's headstrong and on and on.
What can I say, livin this way? Now I know how to take all the pain away.
Guilty as charged and I'm leaving this place.
Smother me with the guilt written on your face.
Cos I'll be in the same spot for the rest of my life contemplating my fate while refining my ways.
So don't come to me.
Never thought I would get that far, so don't come to
me.
Thought you could've lost you a star but don't come to
me.
Bet you never thought we would be the last ones to see.
Patronize me wisely, yeah.
I'm coming out of a phaze from lashing out in a rage
and I ain't competing with people up on them seasons.
But I'll keep a straight face when I look in their eyes.
Somethings telling me that it's time to shine.
And I ain't changing up cos they say that it's hard.
I ain't gonna stop cos I've gone too far.
Delusions of grandeur got me beyond the confusion I was taught to believe forever long.

Always being told I couldn't do it my way.
Always being told that I wouldn't get paid.
Always making sure I was afraid to shine cos if I did I would see every lie used to close my mind.

To sum it up. Ain't the chump they thought I was.
To sum it up. Ain't tryin to create a buzz
To sum it up. All I ever fronted was my sanity but I won't deny that my mind can be so pretty.

I ain't tryin to be a star.
Ain't no letting up.
Misunderstood from the start.
So I'm coming up.
Cos I don't need a back up plan to take a stand for my worth like a real man lookin past emotionally potent oversimplifications created by mythmakers for the sake of their patrons, keeping them complacently overlooking the blatant concentration of the worst display of abomination.
