Silence

A murmur of surprise

Faceless

The wall with eager eyes

They will never understand,

And nor will you.

They are timeless

The words you say

And like sirens,

It alarms and rings in my head.

Can you hear it?

Can you hear them now?

All the echoes

Reflecting what is inside

Soaking

Wrinkled is my skin

Burn marks

Of your kisses on my shin

You're divine and I'm just flesh

In my makers hand

Exhale

So I can breathe you in

And for certain

You circulate in my veins

And it's timeless

But not without time

We must leave now

The shadows are taller than I am
