Sitting by your bedside, trying to understand how this could be happening to you.
Staring at your face, holding your hand,
I just do not know what I will do.

Ever since the day you came into my life
I thought that I could handle everything.

Chorus:

You raise me up; never let me down.
You give me strength to fight when I am on the ground.
You are my rock. You are my light.
I need you every day. I need you by my side.
So fight; Stay here with me.

I know that you can make it. I know that you will survive.
I just know that I need you alive.

Ever since the day you came into my life,
I thought that I could handle everything.

Chorus
