You say we'll never make a difference, we'll never make a chance if we always listen to you things will always stay the same i'm sick of seeing nothing lost and nothing ever gained we want our country back and things that should have never changed justice is what you call it giving them their "rights" they get away with murder you think that's right maybe you've forgotten what our forefathers said one nation under God and that's how we plan to live the kids are on the streets they're speaking their minds opposition's what we get resistance is all we find bottled up anger that's held inside restricting and binding a young mind it's gone break free before long together we'll make the change before we're gone together we'll take back what's ours together it won't be long together can you see it now together we've just begun to start and together we'll win!
